

2020 LOCAL PLANT GUIDE

DANE
COUNTY
FARMERS' MARKET

Welcome!

Thank you for checking out our 2020 Dane County Farmers' Market Local Plant Guide. Due to the restrictions in place to protect public safety, the DCFM will not be operating as 'business as usual' for the foreseeable future. We continue to work to safely connect our farmers with our patrons during the COVID-19 pandemic and due to the growing interest in home gardening, we have put together this resource so you can source quality local plants for your gardens from our farmers. From heirloom tomato starts to vibrant pansies, from hardy fig trees to unique ornamentals, there is something for everyone.

In the following pages, you will find a wealth of information for you to source local vegetable, herb, and flower plants (as well as tree and shrub stock) for your home garden, including:

- Farm list of the 30+ farms and nursery growers included in this guide, listed alphabetically by business name.
- A map of the Capitol Square with the historic locations of the members included herein. Many of you patrons remember your favorite growers based on their location on the Square so please reference the map for assistance.
- A map of farm locations of those growers that are offering on-farm pick-up. This may help you to make decisions about which farms are most convenient for you to pick up from.
- And finally the farm 'directory' which includes details about each farm including product offerings, how to order, and how the product will be available to you - whether via home delivery, on-farm pick-up, or some other method.

A friendly reminder that some of the farmers included in this guide may participate in our DCFM Local Food Pick Ups. Check out <https://dcfm.org/fresh/covid-19> for the latest information on all the ways you can purchase directly from our farmers.

We hope your garden flourishes this season and nourishes you and yours. Be well!

Carpenters' Farm

Mary and Quentin Carpenter

W8720 State Road 106, Fort Atkinson, WI 53538

ON-FARM PICK UP ■ HOME DELIVERY

About: We are not “certified organic” but have followed organic methods for 40+ years in our gardens. Almost all our tomato and pepper seeds come from organic sources, and we make our own compost for potting. All wildflower seeds are collected on our farm, and all wild plants are raised from seeds or plants collected on our farm. Current lists of plants and seeds for sale are available via email. List includes: 51 varieties of tomato plants (mostly heirlooms), 8 varieties of pepper plants, 15+ species of wildflowers as plants, and 25+ species of wildflowers as seeds.

How to order: Contact us via phone 920-723-7067 or 920-723-6035 or via e-mail traditions.carpenter@gmail.com. Orders may be picked up at our farm by appointment. We are easy to find and located 30 mi. SE of the Capitol Square. We will deliver orders $100 and up into the Madison area. As the DCFM develops other temporary venues for delivery, we will participate. Currently payment may be by check (preferred) or exact cash in an envelope; other methods may be possible later.
